Mixed Pair Can Live Together, Court Rules

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court struck down today a Florida law making it a crime for a Negro man and white woman, or a white man and Negro woman, habitually to occupy the same room at night.

Justice Byron R. White, for a unanimous court, said the Florida law represented "an exercise of the state police power which trenches upon the constitutionally protected freedom from invidious official discrimination based on race."

A Florida law prohibiting marriages between Negroes and whites was attacked in the same case, but White said the court was not expressing any views about that law in today's opinion. The court dealt solely with the statute dealing with persons of different races using the same room at night.

Explaining the court's ruling, White said that, because the section as to persons using the same room applies only to a white person and a negro who commit the specified acts — living together — and because no couple other than the one made up of a white and a Negro is subject to a conviction upon proof of the elements comprising the offense it proscribes, "we hold (the section) invalid as a denial of the equal protection of the laws guaranteed by the 14th Amendment."

Plane Crash Survivor Doing Fine

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Mrs. Kenneth Gladden, the only survivor of a plane crash which killed four persons here Friday night, was taken from the critical list, a hospital spokesman said Sunday.

Killed in the crash were Mrs. Gladden's husband and her four-month-old daughter, Debra; Merle Heffner, 47, of Modesto, Calif.; and Donald McClurkin, 43, of Ceres, Calif.

The Gladdens were also from Modesto, although Mrs. Gladden formerly lived at Springfield.

The plane was bringing Gladden here for continued hospitalization for a gunshot wound he had suffered while deer hunting in California. Mrs. Gladden's relatives still live at Springfield.

Mrs. Gladden, 22, was thrown from the plane when it struck a ridge on Sunshine Mountain, about one mile north of the airport. It was coming in for a landing.

The wreckage was discovered Saturday morning, and Mrs. Gladden was at first listed in critical condition. Her condition was listed as fair Sunday night.

Weather Outlook More of Same

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Arkansas weather outlook is for more of the same: cold. But the cloud cover that encased the state has disappeared.

The forecast calls for temperatures reaching the 30s and 40s during the day and dipping to the 20s and teens at night through Wednesday.

High pressure straddling a broad area in the west will keep fronts away from Arkansas for several days with little chance of rain, the Weather Bureau said.

Low readings around the state early today included: Fayetteville 15, Harrison 25, Walnut Ridge 24, Texarkana 27, El Dorado 20, Pine Bluff 25, Memphis 24, Little Rock 24, and Fort Smith 22.

Hearing Thurs. in Mississippi Rights Slaying

PHILADELPHIA, Miss. (AP) — The case of the three slain civil rights workers is heading toward its next climax Thursday when the government unveils evidence at a preliminary hearing.

Mississippi authorities await a look at the FBI evidence. They must decide if they will press murder charges—a state offense—against some of the 21 men arrested last Friday.

"The first thing I'm going to do," said Dist. Atty. W. H. Johnson Jr., "is review the evidence very, very carefully, and then make the decision on whether the state will take action."

Johnson said the FBI has given assurances it will turn over its evidence to the state.

"The FBI has charged 19 men with violating the civil rights of the slain workers. Two other men were charged with being accessories. These are all federal charges. The preliminary hearing could be a delicate legal crossroad. It is scheduled in nearby Meridian before U.S. Commissioner Esther Carter.

Justice Department attorneys will try to put on enough testimony to convince the commissioner they have a strong enough case to warrant holding the 21 men for grand jury action.

On the other hand it is expected that the government will be trying to hold back the bulk of its case — so as not to tip its hand.

While the government readies its case, a statewide defense fund is being organized for the defendants, five of whom, according to the FBI, are Ku Klux Klan members.

Laurel G. Wier one of eight attorneys who represented 18 of the men at their arraignment Friday, said calls offering funds have come from as far as Wisconsin. He said a corporation may be formed to administer the fund.

In Philadelphia, Sheriff Lawrence Rainey said Saturday he was offered money by FBI agents for information about the slayings. Rainey, one of those arrested, said agents told him they had witnesses.

The FBI declined comment on the witnesses but said the money claim was "ridiculous."

The civil rights workers, Michael Schwerner, Andrew Goodman and James Chaney, a Negro, disappeared near Philadelphia last June. Their bullet-riddled bodies were found in an earth-filled dam Aug. 4.

Red Knew Nothing of Dispute

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — The Bulgarian Communist whose Nov. 20 speech at Fayetteville stirred a controversy over academic freedom at the University of Arkansas said last week he had heard nothing of the dispute.

Peter Vassilev, Bulgarian cultural affairs officer, said he was surprised about reports of events in Arkansas both before and after the speech. A reporter for the Pine Bluff Commercial contacted Vassilev Wednesday.

The Foreign Relations Club at the university asked Vassilev to speak, but the university said the club couldn't use school facilities for the talk.

The Rev. James L. McDermott said the club could use the Methodist Center on campus for the speech. He was criticized widely for giving the permission. The university also was criticized.

Vassilev said Wednesday that he found persons at Fayetteville "didn't know anything about the socialist nations," such as Bulgaria.

"But," he continued, "I'm pleased with the audience. There were people there who wanted to listen. It is important to listen to people who disagree with you."

Burch Not a Favorite of Governors

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican governors have started a fire within their party that could make it difficult for National Chairman Dean Burch to command the broad-based support he needs to hold his job.

Although they stopped short in a declaration at Denver, Colo., Saturday of calling collectively for Burch's resignation, there appeared to be majority belief among the 18 who attended that after Burch canvasses the situation thoroughly he may decide to step out.

This was based in part on reports given the governors in closed session that as many as 70 of the 138-member Republican National Committee may favor replacement of Burch.

Burch's own canvass of his strength within the committee was said to have been somewhat disappointing to him.

Sen. Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky, former head of the committee, made the point on a television broadcast Sunday — ABC "Issues and Answers" — that the chairman has to have broad support within the committee. He added he didn't know anybody "who would want to stay in that position that didn't have support of his own committee."

Morton, who had announced his backing of Burch, said it is up to the members of the National Committee and no one else to determine whether Burch should be replaced.

He added: "He must have broad support in the National Committee itself, he must have broad support among the Republican governors, the Republican mayors, Republican leaders, state chairmen, vice chairmen Young Republicans and all."

Although the governors avoided naming Burch in a declaration setting out their ideas about revising the party leadership, it seemed clear a majority were not offering the chairman the kind of "broad support" Morton said was necessary.

Gov. George Romney of Michigan said in a national telecast CBS "Face the Nation" — he is convinced a majority of the National Committee members want Burch to go. Romney was joined by Govs. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, William V. Scranton of Pennsylvania, Robert E. Smylie of Idaho and some others in saying Burch must go.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, the defeated GOP presidential nominee, has said he is standing firmly behind Burch. But even some of Goldwater's firmest supporters among the governors qualified their endorsement of the national chairman.

Gov. Tim Babcock of Montana said Burch should have the opportunity to end "the factionalism which is disrupting us." If the chairman can't do that, Babcock said, he would expect Burch "to step down for the good of the party and I would be among those asking him to do so."

Negroes in Pine Bluff to Boycott

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — A shopping boycott aimed at getting more and better jobs for Negroes was planned to begin here today.

The Pine Bluff movement, a civil rights group, said Saturday the boycott would include all downtown stores, one store in a shopping center, and the Pine Bluff outlets of four supermarket chains.

The boycott list includes several stores which placed Negroes in sales or other non-menial jobs last January.

James A. Bagsby, chairman of the movement, said stores which already have Negroes in non-menial jobs will be asked to hire more.

The movement's vice chairman, the Rev. Benjamin Grinage, said Negroes are not satisfied with progress made in equal employment opportunities for Negroes since last January.

The 14 stores which hired Negroes in the non-menial jobs said Saturday that they have and would continue to consider available employment to all qualified persons, regardless of race, creed or color, according to their abilities.

Grinage said the 14 stores have not expanded Negro employment opportunities since January.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Former U. S. Congressman Brooks Hays of Arkansas will address a statewide informational meeting here today on the 1964 Civil Rights Act.

Discussion will center on the way the act affects businessmen, school officials, law enforcement officers, hospital administrators, and other persons. The meeting is sponsored by the Arkansas State Advisory Committee to the U.S. Civil Rights Commission in cooperation with the National Citizens Committee for Community Relations.

Russia to Aid Arms Lift to Congo Rebels

By GEORGE MCARTHUR
CAIRO (AP) — The Soviet Union reportedly has agreed to help finance the growing arms airlift to the Congolese rebels.

An East European Communist diplomat said the Soviets agreed last weekend to replenish stocks of the Soviet-made weapons which Algeria and the United Arab Republic are shipping to Christophe Gbenye's forces. The Russians also reportedly will pay part of the airlift costs.

Communist China has supported the rebels through its embassy in Burundi, east of the Congo, but when the rebels were driven north toward the Sudanese border, the supply lines became difficult to maintain. The Chinese are reported trying to improve their supply, and the Soviets apparently are trying to counter this.

Witnesses have seen Soviet-built Antonov transports of Egyptian and Algerian registry ferrying weapons to the Congo through Khartoum and Juba, in Sudan.

The Soviet support of the airlift was negotiated in Cairo by rebel "defense minister" Gaston Soumialot and the Soviet ambassador to Egypt, Vladimir Erofeev.

In the former rebel capital of Stanleyville about 20 white mercenaries and a company of Congolese government soldiers crossed the Congo River in barges Sunday to clean out rebel snipers in the native quarter on the south bank.

Radio messages said about 80 rebels surrendered. One white soldier was wounded. Rebel casualties were not reported.

ALC Action Hits Blow at General Tax Increase

By JOHN R. STARR
Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Legislative Council took the economy line today by voting to hold state agency budgets within the optimistic estimate of general revenues.

The action headed off, unless the council changes its mind, the necessity for a general tax increase.

The council did not go all the way with its economy-minded members, some of whom wanted to hold the budgets within the pessimistic estimate of revenues. It also decided to make appropriations for the first year of the next biennium on a basis of the larger revenues expected in the second year.

The action came on a motion by Robert Harvey of Swift, means the council must cut about $6 million from the budgets as approved by Gov. Orval E. Faubus.

The figures involved are: —Estimated revenue for the second year of the biennium, $157,902,000.

—Executive budget recommendations, $163,785,647.

After deciding policy, the council turned to the task of paring the budgets. Most of the money will have to come from appropriations for the public school fund, higher education and welfare because these have been allocated the major percentage of budget increases recommended by the governor.

Little River County Rep. Marion Crank led the fight for Harvey's motion, which ran into trouble from some council members who wanted simply to appropriate on a basis of the executive recommendation and allow the Revenue Stabilization Act to control actual expenditures.

At no point did any council member suggest that the problems could be solved by raising taxes. Faubus hinted at this solution in an address to the council last week.

Crank said control of expenditures by the Revenue Stabilization Act would require all state agencies which draw money from general revenues to take a percentage cut if the revenues failed to come up to the appropriations.

"You'll have some agency take a cut that you didn't want to be cut," he said. "It's a matter of fact."

After 40 Turbulent Years as Director of the FBI, Hoover Laughs at Retirement Talk

EDITOR'S NOTE—Approaching 70, J. Edgar Hoover is once again the subject of criticism and controversy. But he is fazed by neither and looks forward to a continuing active career. He granted an exclusive interview to Don Whitehead, author of "The FBI Story" and former Associated Press correspondent, and told him of plans for the future and Hoover's views on the place of the FBI in the nation's law-enforcement apparatus.

By DON WHITEHEAD
WASHINGTON (AP) — J. Edgar Hoover has survived more than 40 turbulent years as director of the FBI under seven presidents. Now he merely chuckles at those who talk of his early retirement.

Hoover, who is 69 years old, said in an interview: "I feel fine. I'm in better physical condition than I have been in years. And I intend to remain active because I just don't like the rocking-chair life. If I retired, I wouldn't enjoy life very much."

Hoover gives every appearance of a man who is enjoying life hugely, even when it becomes a bit hectic as it has been in recent days. He is 33 pounds lighter than he was six years ago. He appears to have lost little if any of his old restless energy. And he places no cutoff date on his future.

Part of his exuberance, no doubt, comes from the fact that President Johnson waived last May the requirement that he retire at 70, which he reaches in January.

"So you might say I'm hooked — and I'm happy about it even though staying on the job will cost me money," Hoover said. "If I retired, I could, under the new law, draw a tax-free pension of $30,000 a year. But by staying on the job I must pay a substantial part of it in income taxes."

Hoover said he had observed that men who remain physically and mentally busy are less subject to heart attacks and other ailments than those who retire, slow their working pace, and grow fat from leisure.

He mentioned Bernard Baruch, Winston Churchill and the late Herbert Hoover as examples of men who continued active, useful lives long after they had passed 70.

"If I quit," he said, "I think I would have trouble. After three or four days of vacation I get so itchy for activity that I call the office and ask them to send me some work."

The FBI chief at first was more interested in talking of his health than such matters as his tiff with the Rev. Martin Luther King, the civil rights leader, and his annoyance with the Warren Commission's report on the assassination of President John F. Kennedy. He showed them into the background.

"A few years ago," Hoover recalled, "I spent the Christmas holidays in Miami with friends. We ate at all the best restaurants — a lot of rich food — and when I got back to the office I was much too heavy."

"Then I got an invitation to a formal dinner at the White House. When I got out my dress suit, I could hardly squeeze into it. In fact, I was afraid during the evening that I'd pop something loose. That is when I decided that I — and all my special agents — were going to take off weight. A survey had showed that almost 1 agent in 10 was too fat.

"I took off 10 pounds in a short time merely by leaving off the bread, butter, potatoes and chocolate cream pie. Now I'm down 33 pounds to about 170. And we have only five overweight agents in the entire bureau."

Hoover, who has served as director of the FBI since 1924, speaks with affection of the late President Kennedy and his father, former Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy.

"I have known Joe Kennedy for many years," he said, "and I knew the boys as they grew up. My relations with John were very cordial. Soon after his election, and before his inauguration in January 1961, he called me and asked me to stay on as director of the FBI. He also called Allen Dulles and asked him to remain as head of CIA. I told him I would be happy to stay."

Recently Newsweek magazine said President Johnson had decided to find a new FBI boss. It described the President as a "disenchanted fan" of Hoover's. The White House denied the report.

As to his differences with Dr. King (whom he recently called "a notorious liar"), the FBI chief added: "I don't enjoy a controversy, and I don't go looking for one. I have tried for years to avoid public disputes. But I cannot let attacks on the FBI go unchallenged when they are not justified. If I didn't speak out in defense of my agents, I would have no morale left in this organization."

About two weeks ago Hoover leveled some harsh words at his critics during a news conference attended by women reporters. Some thought the words popped out on the spur of the moment, but such wasn't the case.

For several months Hoover had been smarting under reports of criticisms from civil rights leaders, which he felt added up to:

Deriding the efforts of the FBI to bring to justice the men guilty of slaying civil rights workers and bombing Negro homes and churches in the South; advising Negroes not to take their problems to the FBI; saying most FBI agents were Southerners who were not sympathetic to the Negroes' cause; blaming the FBI when the Department of Justice decided not to prosecute certain complaints; and criticizing the FBI's cooperation with "segregationist" police officers in law enforcement.

In his talk with the newsmen, Hoover replied to the criticism.

"The time had come to be blunt," he said in the latest interview. "Public trust in the FBI is an important part of law enforcement and national security. If that trust is chipped away, our defense against crime, espionage and subversion is weakened."

Then he added: "They seem to forget that we have been in the fight to preserve civil rights for the past 40 years. We were fighting against injustices before many of our present critics were born."

In his interview the director said that pressures have increased to turn the FBI into a national police force; people who should know better are suggesting that more and more of the responsibilities of law enforcement should be transferred from local police to the FBI.

"It has been intimated that in protecting the life of the President of the United States," he said, "that federal officers should take into custody everyone who might conceivably be a threat to the President's life when he visits a city."

"This would mean picking up every Communist, kook and beatnik in a city and holding them without charge. If federal officers did this, there would be a tremendous uproar over the violation of these people's civil rights — and rightly so."

Hoover still thinks the Warren Commission was unjustified in chiding the FBI for not having passed the name of Lee Harvey Oswald along to the Secret Service as a potential killer. It was Oswald whom the commission held solely responsible for the assassination of President Kennedy. Hoover contends there was nothing in the record to suggest that Oswald was dangerous.

"Total security for the President of the United States is ridiculous," Hoover said. "When he is gregarious and loves to move around, you can't box him in. You can advise him to take certain precautions — but that doesn't mean he will take them."

Hoover said there is pressure from civil rights leaders for the FBI to give personal protection to civil rights workers and those demonstrating for civil rights causes. The proponents argue that local police cannot be trusted to view the Negro cause with sympathy.

"They want us to be bodyguards and to give personal protection," Hoover said, "but that is impossible. It was even suggested at one time that our agents should drive the buses used by Freedom Riders going across Alabama. I refused to do it. Our agents can not be chauffeurs for any cause."

"After all that has been written, so few people know what we legally can do and can't do. Our agents can not be used as instruments for social reform. They are law enforcement agents. Their job is to gather facts when there is an indication that a federal law has been violated. These facts are presented to the Department of Justice, and the department decides whether there will be or will not be a prosecution."

"An FBI agent is not authorized to pass judgment on the guilt or innocence of a person. He can only gather the facts and let the facts speak for themselves. If he were allowed to become an investigator, judge and jury all in one, then we would have no constitutional law enforcement. We would have a police state."

Hoover is convinced that the only sound law enforcement system is one based on a local police system working in cooperation with the federal agencies. He argues the main police responsibilities lie at the local level and must remain there. He insists that this system, with all of its faults, serves the cause of justice best and should be improved upon rather than changed or destroyed.

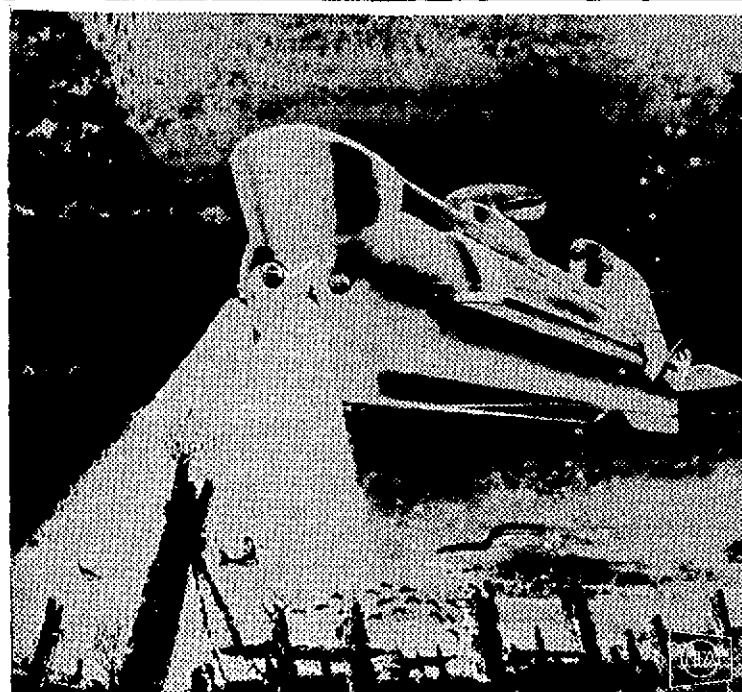

"We will have trouble with some red-neck backwoods sheriffs," he said. "We still find police forces with whom we can not cooperate. But law enforcement today is far better than 30 years ago. The police are better trained and I like to think this is partly due to our training of police officers at our National Police Academy."

"I believe the FBI is operating on sound principles. My duty is to see that it keeps a steady course and is not used to serve any pressure group."

Then he added with a grin: "I expect to be around quite a while, too."

AEA Policy Meet Is Saturday

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Council on Education of the Arkansas Education Association is expected to approve Saturday an AEA Commission on Professional Rights and Responsibilities.

The commission would enable the AEA to assume responsibility for the conduct and performance of its members. In 1962 the council endorsed a recommendation that such a commission be created and a special committee was appointed to develop

Cold Leaves Many Short of Proper Heat

By HERB STRENTZ

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP) — Cold and hardship continued today for thousands of families in an ice-crippled eastern portion of New York. Power crews sought to restore heat and light for nearly 40,000 customers.

The sun glistened this morning on a winter wonderland created by ice-laden trees and power lines. Temperatures ranged down to 10 below zero in the wake of one of the state's worst storms.

The bitter cold added the threat of frozen water pipes for stricken residents, most of whom were in an area bounded generally by Albany on the south, Glens Falls on the north and Amsterdam-Gloversville on the west.

Three deaths were attributed to the weekend onslaught of snow, sleet and freezing rain.

Many schools closed Friday remained closed today. Others served as emergency centers for those driven from their homes. Churches, fire houses and other public places also were opened for emergency use, and cooking facilities were provided.

The Weather Bureau said tonight and Tuesday would be a bit warmer, amid scattered snow.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, touring evacuation centers in the Schenectady area Sunday night, declared, "We've had ice storms before, but none has ever been as bad as this."

He was talking about a combination of freezing rain, snow and ice accumulation that began Friday and that, by late Sunday night, froze community activities — from high school basketball games to worship services — to a stop.

Families began entering the emergency centers Friday night. Others followed as the storm damage left thousands of homes without electricity or heat.

At its peak, the storm had darkened the homes and businesses of more than 75,000 of the 338,800 customers of the Niagara Mohawk Power Corp. in a specific proposal.

The council, AEA's policy making body, holds its annual meeting here Saturday.

Letters to the Editor

This is your newspaper. Write to it. Letters criticizing the editorial policy or commenting upon facts in the news columns, are equally welcome. Every writer must sign his name and address.

Editor The Star:

Last week, I went out to watch our local Senior Boys and Girls play basketball in an invitational tournament. I believe these tournaments should be looked upon by all as a sport, and should be treated thusly by all concerned players, officials, referees, spectators, and everyone concerned.

I realize that in a basketball game it is practically impossible for the referees to keep their eyes on everything that goes on while the game is being played but I believe that they should call any high school sport with an open mind and try to keep it as a sport and not put it to shame.

I have seen a lot of high school basketball played and I have seen a lot of these games called wrongly (wop-sided); but I have never seen one called like a game was called last week. It seemed as if they had their minds made up before the game was played just who was to win and they seemed determined to see that this team won. Now, as I stated before, I have seen a lot of games and feel that I know enough about the game to know when it is being called fairly and impartially. (I know I am not an expert) but can tell when a boy or girl fouls or not. I saw them call fouls that night that just weren't there. There were other things that went on that prompted me to write this letter.

I'll say that if we are going to continue to have basketball and other sports in our high schools, the biased referees must go. We must have honest, clear-minded men who will referee a game honestly and impartially. I feel that a bad or biased referee will affect and maybe destroy the points and qualities that the parents and teachers take years to build up in our young people. I feel that they should be encouraged more in the basic needs for the future and I think sports is one of the main ones that should be stressed. Sports will enter into their lives one way or another from now on. So, I say again, get rid of the biased referees, and other officials who are making a mockery of our high school sports and affecting the future of our young people.

I think that the people should stand up and be counted in cleaning out our high school sports. So, I am urging all people to take an active role in their school's activities and see that they are run as they should be.

eastern-central New York. A power company spokesman said Sunday night that the number of homes and businesses without electricity and heat was down to about 40,000.

But, a Schenectady County Civil Defense official said, it will be a few days before thousands of broken tree limbs and snapped power lines can be cleared from city streets and yards. Until then, many families will remain in evacuation centers.

Estes Trial on TV to Be Decided

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court decided today to rule on whether live television coverage of the trial of Billie Sol Estes on a charge of swindling violated his rights under the U.S. Constitution.

Estes, the Texan whose financial bubble burst with heavy losses by lending companies, appealed to the high tribunal from his conviction by a state court jury in Tyler, Tex. He was sentenced to eight years imprisonment.

The Supreme Court, in announcing it had granted Estes a hearing, said it would be restricted to the Texan's complaint against requiring him to "submit to live television of his trial."

The announcement said the hearing will be limited to this question:

"Whether the action of the trial court, over petitioner's (Estes's) continued objection, denied him due process of law and equal protection of the laws under the 14th Amendment to the Constitution of the United States, in requiring petitioner to submit to live television of his trial, and in refusing to adopt in this all-out publicity case, as a rule of trial procedure, Canon 35 of the Canons of Judicial Ethics of the American Bar Association, and instead adopting and following, over defendant's (Estes's) objection, Canon 28 of the Canons of Judicial Ethics, since approved by the judicial section of the integrated (state agency) state bar of Texas."

Wood Found Guilty, Gets Life Term

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Jackie Lee Wood, 20, of Springdale, was convicted here Saturday of first-degree murder in the strangulation of Pamela Ann King, 17, of Mabelvale.

The girl's body was found in a Little Rock motel room early Sept. 16. The room had been rented by Wood.

Harry Robinson, one of Wood's attorneys, said a motion for a new trial would be filed.

During the trial Saturday, Wood's plea was changed from innocent by reason of insanity to innocent.

The jury of nine men and three women reached the verdict after two hours.

Wood told the court that he met the girl at a private club and danced with her. He said she agreed to go to his motel room, then changed her mind and they parted on Main Street here.

Wood said he then went to two restaurants and a bus station, returned to his room and discovered the girl's body. He said he had told her his room number.

ter of what we want to commit ourselves to."

The general tone of the council's discussion indicated that most council members have adopted Faubus' promise to give teachers an average $1,000 salary raise during the next two years.

Such a salary increase would not be possible in an across-the-board cut because the largest bite would come from the public school fund which now stands to get about $20 million a year more during the next two years than it is now receiving.

The council adopted its budget policy after hearing E. L. Angell, director of the Commission on Co-ordination of Higher Education Finance, ask for an appropriation of $27,791,826 a year for higher education. This compares to the current appropriation of $19,720,000.

Budget allocations proposed by Angell included:

- University of Arkansas, improving the Medical Center, $16,742,043.
- Arkansas AM&N, $1,713,946.
- Arkansas A&M, $958,525.
- Arkansas Tech, $1,255,794.

What kind of a tiger do you want under your hood? (Have you priced a tiger lately?)
If you're handy with a whip and chair, go for the 360-hp GTO. It bites. But then, even the 335-hp GTO bites. If you want a slightly more civilized package (but with lots of the GTO muscle), try the Le Mans. You can get it with a six or either of two V-8s. They all have bucket seats. Carpeting. And cost less than some tame cats. So go price a tiger.

Racial War Breaks Out in Sudan

By ANDREW BOROWIEC

KHARTOUM, Sudan, (AP) — Arabs and Negroes battled through the night in Khartoum and fighting continued today. An estimated 10 persons were reported killed, and scores were injured, including an American couple.

The racial warfare broke out when thousands of Negroes from South Sudan massed at the Khartoum Airport to protest domination by the East African nation's Arab majority. Then they invaded the city, smashing automobiles and attacking Europeans and Americans as well as Arabs.

Apparently the Europeans and Americans were mistaken in the dark for Arabs. "This is not against you," a leader of the mob told an English family and two Americans at the airport.

The rioters smashed windows at Communist China's embassy. Iron shutters were lowered over the windows of the U.S. Embassy, and a Marine guard was on the alert.

Helmeted police and troops with bayonets dispersed the Negro mob. An hour later thousands of Arabs armed with sticks invaded the Negro quarter adjoining the airport. Bloody clashes were reported through the night.

The demonstration started at Khartoum Airport when a crowd of about 5,000 Negroes assembled to greet Interior Minister Clement Mboro. Mboro, a Negro, had been touring South Sudan, where Negro tribes are rebelling against the Arabs of the northern Sudan who dominate the government and the army.

Ruth Hanagan, Mrs. Muriel McLarty, Mrs. Mary Nell Turner, Mrs. Louise Fuller, and Miss Mary Margaret Haynes.

Mrs. Hyatt program leader, set the stage for a meaningful Christmas celebration as she presented a commentary on present-day attitudes and practices as they exist in other cultures preparing for the Christmas season. A vocal trio composed of Mrs. Edith Brown, Mrs. Margaret Medders, and Mrs. McLarty sang, "No Candle Was There," and an arrangement from Brahms, "Lullaby." Mrs. Turner joined Mrs. Hyatt in a two-piano arrangement of "Jesu Bambino."

Following a short description of the Christmas carols and hymns, the group joined in carol singing.

Mrs. Marie Holt conducted a lively Christmas quiz which appropriately climaxed the holiday mood with a cheery Christmas greeting.

Assisting the hostess were Mrs. Hanagan, Mrs. Fuller, Mrs. Medders, and Mrs. Holt.

"DEAR ABBY"

RESHUFFLE ONCE MORE!

By Abigail Van Buren

Dear Abby: While a senior at the university last year, I fell in love with another senior. We were married in July and I agreed to take a job on campus to help put my husband through graduate school. I became suspicious when I never saw him studying and he appeared so nonchalant about finals that I checked up on him. I found out that while I was working like a horse all day he was playing bridge. Then I discovered that he wasn't even registered in the university! He says he loves me and if I give him another chance he'll enroll next term, and make it up to me, and give up bridge entirely until he's finished with school. What do you make of this and what should I do?

STUNNED

Dear Stunned: Let's just say your husband finessed your jack! Give him another chance. But save your heart and lead with a club if he cheats again.

Dear Abby: My husband and I have been very happily married for many years. I am his second wife. His first wife died and left him with three small children. She had been gone a year when I met him. All the children are married now.

A few days ago his daughter's husband showed me a picture of a little girl and said she had been fathered by my husband while he was in the service in another country about 20 years ago. (He spent four years there.) I was shocked. This son-in-law is planning to confront my husband with this in the presence of the entire family when we get together for the holidays. My husband had a heart attack last year and I'm afraid he might suffer a setback. He is now 62 years old. What should I do?

CONCERNED

Dear Concerned: First, tell your husband of the sadistic son-in-law's threat and assure him that, true or false, it means nothing to you. Second, both of you tell the son-in-law that until and unless he surrenders the picture and drops the blackmail there will be NO father at family gatherings where the son-in-law is present.

Dear Abby: I don't agree with your advice that a nursing mother should get out of sight and nurse her baby in private. Ninety per cent of the people don't even notice a mother nursing her baby, and those who do are only admiring the mother for the wonderful thing she is doing. So I say that when a baby is hungry, feed him, no matter

Gas Tax Hike Frowned on by Dealers

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus suggested to the Arkansas Oil Marketers Association Sunday that the state's rural roads problem might be solved through a $150 million bond issue supported by a one-cent fuel tax increase.

As soon as he had finished talking, Faubus found that the marketers cared very little about the tax increase.

The association president, Harve Taylor of Clarksville, read a resolution adopted by the association last October which for—not to, hold their dresses out.

MRS. M.G.G. Breckenridge, Texas

Dear Abby: What is a girl supposed to do when a boy's friends are so loyal to him they won't ask the girl he is going out with him for a date? Here in Monterro, La., when a girl goes out with a boy twice in a row everybody considers them going steady. I have tried to spread it around that we are not going steady and I am eligible, but it doesn't do any good. What is a girl supposed to do? Sit home every weekend? Please put this in your column. I know many girls at school with the same problem.

ELIGIBLE BUT NOT ASKED
Dear Eligible: Traditionally, the man does the asking, so unless you want to be known as a predatory female, sit home and wait to be asked. It's a man's world, honey.

was strongly opposed to the one-cent increase.

Faubus did not say his rural road program would include the bond issue and fuel tax increase, but he made it clear he was thinking along these lines.

He has said he wanted to submit his rural road program to a special session of the legislature.

The governor emphasized that however financed, he was definitely going to submit some kind of rural road improvement plan to the legislature.

He gave this outline to the oilmen:

The legislature would be asked to raise the fuel tax one cent to 7½ cents and then Arkansas voters would be asked to approve $150 million in bonds to get the money for immediate improvements in the rural and secondary system of the state.

The tax increase bill would be so written that the increase would be automatically repealed in 1970, which is when the outstanding highway bonds will be paid off. The money going for the present bond retirement—about $7.1 million a year—would then start going to the $150 million bond issue.

Faubus, who appeared before the oilmen at his own request, argued that Arkansas is now about average with its 6½-cent-per-gallon gas tax. He said 20 states had a higher gas tax, three had the same, 20 had a 6-cent tax and six had a 5-cent tax.

Judgment of $6,000 Is Set Aside

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Supreme Court today reversed a $6,000 judgment in a suit among three lawyers and dismissed the case.

Shelby C. Ferguson of Ash Flat filed the suit against H. M. Ellis and Bon McCourtney, both of Jonesboro.

Ferguson was injured while riding in a car driven by Ellis and owned by McCourtney. Ellis and Ferguson were riding together to a court hearing when the car was involved in an accident near Hardy.

The trial judge directed a verdict for McCourtney but permitted the Ellis-Ferguson suit to go to a jury and the jury returned a $6,000 judgment for Ferguson.

The Supreme Court said, however, that the evidence in the case failed to show that Ellis was guilty of "wanton and willful negligence" as required in a judgment under the Guest Statute.

The Supreme Court affirmed Independence Circuit Court's granting of a summary judgment for the Missouri Pacific Railroad in a suit filed by James R. Reddell, a MoPac employee.

Reddell struck his head on an iron beam while dismounting from a piece of railroad equipment he was operating and he charged in his suit that the railroad was negligent in providing the equipment.

The Supreme Court said the trial judge was right in awarding a summary judgment because Reddell failed to show that the railroad was negligent in any manner and that he was familiar with the equipment he was operating and that it was exactly the same as other pieces of the same equipment.

Pulaski Circuit Court was reversed in a case in which the mother of an airman who was struck and killed by an airplane propeller was awarded judgments totaling $12,200 against the American Homestead Insurance Co.

Mrs. Pearl Denny contended the company's policy covered the accident in which her son was killed at Goose Bay Air Force Base in Labrador. The company said that the type of accident and the type of aircraft involved was specifically excluded by the policy.

Ole Miss and LSU Drop Their Final Games

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Their bowl bids notwithstanding, Louisiana State and Mississippi fell right in the soup on the final Saturday of college football's regular season.

The Bayou Tigers, ranked No. 7 in the final Associated Press poll and headed for a New Year's Day meeting with Syracuse in the Sugar Bowl took a 20-6 beating from Florida. Ole Miss, on its way to the Bluebonnet Bowl game against Tulsa, lost to Mississippi State 20-17.

Elsewhere in minor post-season games, Florida A&M raced by Grambling 42-15 in the Orange Blossom Classic at Miami. Sui Ross downed East Central State 21-13 in the All Sports Bowl at Oklahoma City, Ft. Lenoir, Ga., whipped Ft. Eustis, Va., 9-3 in the Missile Bowl at Orlando, Fla.

Florida had scored against LSU since 1960 but made up for it in near-freezing weather before 65,000 Baton Rouge fans.

Jack Harner caught two touchdowns passes on one off a fake field goal. All the LSU points came on Doug Moreau's two field goals which gave him 13 for the season, tying the record.

The victory put Florida into a three-way tie for second place in the Southeastern Conference with Georgia and Kentucky and dropped LSU to fifth.

Mississippi State beat Ole Miss for the first time in 18 years with Don Bland's key pass interception setting up the Maroons' final touchdown. Earlier, Don Edwards' 17-yard TD pitch to Marcus Rhoden and two

Navy Soccer Team Wins NCAA Title

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Navy, a team with a mission, is the 1964 NCAA soccer champion.

The Middies won their first title with a 1-0 victory over Michigan State Saturday. They completed their quest after losing in the final to St. Louis University a year ago.

San Diego Wraps Up the Western Title

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Sports Writer

It was only fitting and proper. Back in October the Oakland Raiders, with some last-minute heroics, delivered what appeared to be a knockout blow to Boston's hopes of an Eastern Division title in the American Football League.

And now, with some last-minute heroics, the Raiders have knocked the Patriots right back into the drivers' seat.

The Raiders' Tom Flores did the job this time, hitting Art Powell with a three-yard touchdown pass with only four seconds left and boosting Oakland to a 16-13 victory over Buffalo Sunday.

Boston had been struggling desperately to catch up ever since Mike Mercer kicked a 38-yard field goal with five seconds left in the October clash when Oakland tied the Patriots 43-43 and appeared to knock them out of title contention.

They finally overhauled the Bills by beating Kansas City 31-24. That left Buffalo with a 10-2 record and Boston at 10-2-1. The Patriots are idle this week, while Buffalo has a game with Denver. Regardless of the outcome of the Bills' game with Denver, the Eastern title goes on the line in the final game of the regular season, Boston at Buffalo.

The San Diego Chargers wrapped up the Western title, their second straight and fourth in the five-year history of the AFL with a 38-3 romp over New York in the only other league game played over the weekend.

Boston's Babe Parilli passed for 300 yards and three touchdowns in leading the Pats to their key victory. A 29-yard touchdown pass to Art Graham broke a 17-17 tie and put Boston ahead to stay.

San Diego totaled 466 yards on offense against the hapless Jets and scored the first three times it got its hands on the ball. John Hadl completed 15 of 17 passes for 240 yards and two touchdowns.

Bobcats Bomb Lewisville by 65-41 Tally

By CARTER HARDAGE

Hope Star Sports Writer

In their home court opener Saturday night, the Bobcats soundly whipped the Lewisville Red Devils 65-41, but the Ladies didn't fare quite as well, bombing out to the tune of 64-42.

Hope's shelled the hapless Lewisville crew without much trouble, outscoring them in every quarter.

The Bobcats didn't exactly look like the Boston Celtics, either, but as Coach Billy Mitchell would say, they just don't have all of the football out of co-operation, and things will run smoothly.

Using a man-to-man defense, the Cats stopped the Lewisville attack dead in its tracks and sped to an early 15-5 lead. They never relinquished it.

Ronnie Ingram popped the lead to the tune of 16 points to 6 in the scoring. Jerry Burnett was second with 12, Dennis Ramsey had 9, Andy High 8, Mike Archer and Buddy Jordan 6 apiece, and Larry May, Bob McGill, Eddie Aslin, and Vince Massanelli 2 each. Robert Patton had 11 for the Devils.

Phyllis Landes scored 40 points, two less than the entire Hope team, to lead Lewisville to their lopsided win that ruined the Lady Cats' perfect record.

Lewisville, the defending state champion, roared into a 37-23 halftime command behind an alert and aggressive defense, and quickly put the match out of reach.

Tuesday night the Bobcats will play host to Gurdon for an "A" game and a Junior Boys' match. The Senior Girls will travel to Blevins for a road trip.

Tulsa Passer Breaks Many Records

NEW YORK (AP) — Jerry Rhyme Tulsa's second team All-American, broke 16 major college football records this season on route to winning individual titles in total offense and passing by big margins.

Final figures released today by the NCAA Service Bureau show that the Tulsa senior quarterback gained 3,120 yards rushing and passing for a margin of 902 yards over runner-up John Torok of Arizona State. In passing, Rhyme completed 224 aerials, 39 more than second-place Craig Morton of California and compiled 2,870 yards through the air.

Here are Rhyme's major college records:

Single Game
Total offense yards, 504; pass completions, 35; passing yards, 448; and touchdown passes 7.

Season
Total offense plays 470; total offense yards, 3,128; point responsible for, 256; pass completions, 224; passing yards, 2,870; touchdown passes 32; consecutive passes without interceptions, 198; per cent completions, 687; per cent interceptions, .012.

Career
Total offense plays, 1,026; pass completions, 448 and passing yards, 5,472.

Baylor Making Signs of Being a Cage Power

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Basketball has reached that point where a team has to score more than 90 points per game to be a winner, especially along the intersectional trail.

So Baylor and Texas met the challenge and as a result they have won three of the five intersectional victories by the Southwest Conference in its first week of the season.

Southern Methodist and Texas A&M won the other two but did not need 90-plus scores to do it. Southern Methodist came close, beating Oklahoma City 89-76. The Aggies downed Mississippi Southern 83-70.

Baylor, which wasn't supposed to be among the top teams, has been the sensation. The young Bears have won three straight games, two of them of the intersectional variety, and averaged 96.5 while so doing.

In fact, Baylor has two 100-plus showings, beating Arlington State 103-85 and Tulane 102-77, then summing up for an 81-72 triumph over Louisiana State.

Texas rolled up 94 in blasting Mississippi 94-67. Texas Tech, which started out like a house afire with a 114-70 victory over McMurry, stumbled in its very first intersectional game and was licked handily by New Mexico 72-57.

It was an early deflation for the heavily-favored Red Raiders, who are supposed to win the conference championship.

While the league managed five intersectional victories, its first week, there were nine losses to make it a typical conference opening.

Ten intersectional games are on the schedule this week and the conference has a chance to catch up but from the caliber of the opposition it doesn't appear it will.

Texas Tech winds up a western trip tonight against Arizona at Tucson while Texas ends its southern tour against Louisiana State at New Orleans. Texas Christian gets Arlington State at Fort Worth.

Tuesday night, Texas A & M plays Sam Houston at Huntsville while Southern Methodists hosts Tulsa.

Wednesday night Arkansas, which has lost its first two games—to Kansas and Missouri—tries Oklahoma State at Stillwater.

Thursday night Texas Christian plays Houston at Fort Worth and Texas A&M gets the only team that's beat it thus far—Memphis State—at College Station.

Saturday — Hardin Simmons vs. Arkansas at Fayetteville, Trinity vs. Baylor at Waco, Rice vs. Centenary at Shreveport, Louisiana State vs. Southern Methodist at Dallas, Loyola vs. Texas Christian at Fort Worth, Wyoming vs. Texas Tech at Lubbock, Oklahoma vs. Texas at Austin.

There are no games Friday night but seven of the teams are in action Saturday night as Texas Tech returns home to battle Wyoming, Texas engages Oklahoma at Austin, Texas Christian takes on Loyola of New Orleans at Fort Worth, Southern Methodist plays Louisiana State at Dallas, Rice meets Centenary at Shreveport, Arkansas tangles with Hardin-Simmons at Fayetteville and Baylor plays Trinity at Waco.

John Beasley, who threatens to step into the shoes of the departed Benny Lenox at Texas A&M, took a quick lead in scoring with 83 points—an average of 27.6.

Marshall Wins Houston Post Award

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — University of Arkansas quarterback Fred Marshall was named Saturday as recipient of the Houston Post Award for the most valuable back in the Southwest Conference.

Tommy Nobis, University of Texas linebacker, was named most valuable lineman.

Marshall was selected by a 6-5 margin over Donny Anderson of Texas Tech in the closest vote since King Hill of Rice and John David Crow tied for the award in 1957 and received duplicate trophies.

The award is the oldest in the conference open to individual players representing all schools. Marshall is the seventh Razorback to capture the award. Garland (Bevo) Beavers of Arkansas won the first one in 1923.

Nobis won handily over Arkansas linebacker Ronnie Caviness by a 7-3 vote with Olen Underwood of Texas receiving a single vote for most valuable lineman.

The awards are presented on the vote of a committee representing the eight cities in which Southwest Conference schools are located, plus Harold Ratliff of the Associated Press and three members of the Post sports staff.

Salesman Is Champion Duck Caller

STUTTGART, Ark. (AP) — Mick Lacy, 31, a Knoxville, Ill., salesman, won the 29th annual World Duck Calling Contest here Saturday night, edging defending champion Mel Deland, 33, of Burlington, Iowa.

C. M. (Sonny) Jordan Jr., 39, of Greenwood, Miss., was third. Lacy was Illinois champion in 1961 and 1964 and he captured the Illinois goose calling championship in 1963.

Mrs. Chick Majors of Stuttgart won the Women's World Title for the second time. Her husband is a two-time World Title holder.

Leavell Smith, of Stuttgart, a former state champion, captured that title for the second time. Butch Richenback of Stuttgart was second and Homer Taylor of Jacksonville, also a former state title holder, was third.

Steve Higginbotham of Helena, formerly of Stuttgart, finally won the Junior World Championship after four years of trying. He was fourth, four years ago, third, three years ago and second last year.

Canadian Cup Belongs to Americans

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

KAANAPALI, Maui, Hawaii (AP) — The Canada Cup, emblematic of world supremacy of professional golf, will reside for the fifth straight year in the United States.

And the International Trophy belongs for the second successive year to Jack Nicklaus.

This was the setting today as two-man teams from 32 nations, plus Hawaii and Puerto Rico, dispersed after giving the colorful isle in the Pacific a show they'll never forget.

Nicklaus staged a rally made famous by Palmer, coming from six strokes back of Arnie starting the final 18 holes.

At the finish, in which a three-way deadlock was broken at one stage, and a two-way tie at the 71st hole, it was Nicklaus 276, and Palmer 278.

More than 7,000 fans, largest turnout for golf in the history of the Hawaiian Islands, swarmed over the par-72 Royal Kaanapali golf course.

It had long since been recognized that the United States had the Canada Cup tucked away. The American team compiled 554 strokes with Argentina next at 565 and South Africa third with 568.

The spotlight was on Palmer and Nicklaus, who later offered some friendly criticism, or advice, to the sponsoring International Golf Association.

They disclosed they agreed, coming to the 71st, or 17th hole of the day, that there would be no sudden-death playoff, as had been announced.

Palmer, in the post-press interview said: "Our objective from the start of the week was to win the Canada Cup for the United States."

"But then it turned out we were fighting each other. This doesn't make sense."

Palmer led South Africa's Gary Player by three and Jack by six setting forth under the bright blue sky. Player caught Palmer at the 10th, and Nicklaus joined the group at the 11th.

Player's game fell apart soon after. The popular South African bogeyed four straight holes, starting with the 13th.

"This is ridiculous," sighed Gary, shaking his head in disbelief. He finished with 279 and a tie for third with Hawaii's fine pro, Ted Makalena.

The Nicklaus-Palmer logjam ended on No. 17 when Palmer three-putted from about 25 feet. Arnie bogeyed the 18th but by then it didn't matter.

Team scoring behind the first three finishers: Spain, 572; England, 578; Hawaii 579; Canada, 584; Japan, 585; Brazil, 587; Belgium, 588; China, 590, and Wales, 591.

Cards Keep Alive in NFL Grid Race

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

It wasn't so very long ago that the St. Louis Cardinals were vitally concerned with what went on in Yankee Stadium in New York and it will be that way again next Saturday.

This time it's the National Football League's Eastern Division title going up for grabs and the Cardinals will be the football variety instead of baseball.

The Cleveland Browns had a chance to wrap up the Eastern title Sunday but lost to St. Louis 28-19, allowing the Cards to creep within a half-game of the lead. Cleveland visits New York Saturday and the Giants, struggling through a dismal season after three straight Eastern crowns, once again are a vital factor in the Eastern race.

Should the Browns win Saturday, Sunday's game between the Philadelphia Eagles and St.

NOSE HIS WORK—A grain handler in Montreal harbor has to wear a protective mask as he goes about his work. Because Montreal is a major world seaport—even though it is 1,000 miles from the Atlantic Ocean—he keeps busy unloading freighters.

Louis won't mean a thing. But a Giant victory could give the Cards the crown if St. Louis gets by the Eagles the following day.

The Giants lost their ninth in 13 games Sunday, bowing to Minnesota 30-21. In other games, Detroit ended Baltimore's 11-game winning streak 31-14, Pittsburgh topped Washington 14-7, Philadelphia downed Dallas 24-14, and San Francisco defeated Los Angeles 28-7. Saturday it was Green Bay 17, Chicago 3.

Charley Johnson keyed the Cardinal triumph, pitching two touchdown passes and running short yardage for two more scores as St. Louis stalled Cleveland's title drive. Johnson completed 15 of 22 for 167 yards.

Lou Groza kept the Browns in the game, booting four field goals.

The Giants, who handed St. Louis one of its losses and held the Cards to a tie in their other game, showed signs of life against Minnesota. Clarence Childs raced 100 yards returning a kickoff for a TD and Gary Wood handled the New York offense adequately.

But scrambling Fran Tarkenton tossed two TD passes and Fred Cox kicked three field goals as the Vikings came from behind to win it.

Milt Plum threw three TD passes as the Lions ended Baltimore's win streak that started the second week of the season.

Pittsburgh scored the winning touchdown midway in the final period and then halted a last-minute Washington drive for its victory. Ed Brown's 47-yard pass to Gary Ballman produced the deciding points.

A&M Slams State for AIC Victory

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Arkansas A&M, leading spectacularly in rebounding, downed Southern State 77-61 Saturday night to pick up its first Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference basketball victory in a game at Monticello.

In non-conference games Northeast Louisiana defeated Ouachita 84-82 in a game at Arkadelphia and College of the Ozarks beat Little Rock University 65-60 playing at Clarksville.

The Muleriders jumped off to a nine-point lead in the first half but A&M whittled it away then charged ahead in the second period. The Aggies led 64-20 in rebounding with Dan McCauley getting 25 of those, 19 of them in the second period.

Dick Pickens led scoring with 20 points for A&M.

Tommy Enloe hit a 10-foot jump shot with two seconds left to give Northeast Louisiana the victory over Ouachita.

Ouachita's Leon Clements tied the game up at 82-82 with 14 seconds left after the Baptists had overcome a 10-point lead.

Clements led scoring with 32 points. Glenn Saulters had 21 for Northeast.

College of the Ozarks led most of the way but LRU kept nipping at its heels until midway through the second half.

Carroll Cookson led scoring for the Mountaineers with 19 points. Ashley Whitman had 13 for LRU.

Wolverines Survive Opening Test

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Michigan has survived the first summit meeting of the college basketball season: but there'll be no immediate rest for the weary Wolverines.

Cazzie Russell and Bill Buntin led the Wolverines, No. 1 in The Associated Press' pre-season ratings, past fifth-ranked Duke 86-79 Saturday night at Durham, N.C. But it took big plays by unsung Oliver Darden and John Thompson in the final minutes — after Michigan had blown a 13-point lead — to hold off the dogged Blue Devils.

The Big Ten co-champions are back home tonight against dangerous Missouri. They'll meet third-ranked Wichita next Monday and play in the ECAC Holiday Festival at New York before opening a rugged conference schedule next month.

Wichita, paced by All-American Dave Stallworth's 37-points, swamped Long Beach State 114-78 — setting a school scoring record — in its season opener Saturday night.

Second-ranked UCLA rebounded from an opening loss at Illinois and riddled Indiana State 112-76; sixth-ranked Vanderbilt trimmed Southern Methodist 99-67; San Francisco, No. 9, clubbed Stanford 77-50, and St. John's, N.Y., eased by Temple 60-50.

But St. Joseph's of Philadelphia upended fourth-ranked Davidson 77-64 while Penn State stunned Syracuse, No. 7, 81-59 and Kansas State, No. 8, bowed to Indiana 74-70.

Three-point plays by Darden and Thompson around a Russell layup enabled Michigan to pull away from Duke after the Blue Devils had tied the score 69-69 on Bob Verga's jump shot with 5:05 remaining. Russell scored 21 points and Buntin 17 as the Wolverines averaged a 91-80 loss to the Atlantic Coast Conference club in the NCAA semifinals last March.

Missouri won its second straight, topping Arkansas 81-71 after trailing by four points at halftime.

Illinois, which had snapped UCLA's 30-game winning streak Friday night, was ambushed by St. Louis 79-64 Saturday. Minnesota, which barely missed crashing the pre-season top ten, whipped Iowa State 63-53 for its third straight triumph.

Oklahoma State Wins Swim Meet

CONWAY, Ark. (AP) — Oklahoma State University picked up 95 points to edge Emporia of Kansas in the Hendrix Relays swimming meet here Saturday.

Arlington State of Fort Worth, Tex., had 75 points, Pittsburg State of Kansas had 50 points, Hendrix had 33, Arkansas State Teachers 153 Southern State 14 and Ouachita 8.

Dream Game Has Arkansas in Top Spot

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — A New Orleans newspaper proclaimed the Arkansas Razorbacks national football champions Saturday by virtue of a game played in a writer's imagination.

The New Orleans States-Item ran an eight-column story across the top of its sports page with a headline which read: "Arkansas Downs 'Bama, 14-10, for the National Title."

The story was written by Peter Finney of the States-Item sports staff. In it he gave a detailed description of a mythical football game between Razorbacks and the Crimson Tide.

Finney wrote that President Johnson arranged the dream game for charity. It pitted Alabama, ranked No. 1 in the Associated Press' Football Poll, against the second-ranked Razorbacks.

The only indication that the story was not real was in the second portion of the headline which read "51,402 See Dream Game—Only a Dream—in Washington."

In his description of the game Finney reported that the Razorbacks scored twice in the first half. Once on a one-yard plunge by quarterback Fred Marshall and once on a 22-yard pass from Marshall to end Jerry Lamb.

Finney said Alabama got a field goal in the second quarter and a touchdown in the fourth. He credited Arkansas defensive back Ken Halfield with intercepting a pass in the end zone to stop Alabama's last shot at victory.

Fake statistics and an old picture of Razorback Jim Lindsey returning a punt accompanied the article. The statistics favored the Crimson Tide.

Fast Break Fatal to the Porkers

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — The University of Missouri utilized a fast break to overcome a four-point halftime deficit and defeat the University of Arkansas 81-71 in basketball Saturday night.

Missouri went ahead to stay four minutes deep into the second half after trailing 39-35 at intermission. The Tigers increased their lead to as much as 14 points at one time.

Missouri pulled ahead when Gary Garner sank a free throw which followed a jump shot that had tied the game up with 16:20 left by John Loyear.

Arkansas' zone defense held the Tigers to 38 per cent from the field during the first period before Missouri Coach Bob Vanatta adjusted the Tiger offense by pulling more men around the goal and using the fast break.

J. D. McConnell led scoring with 19 points for Arkansas. Ned Monsees and George Flamank each had 15 for Missouri.

Paragould Gives Electric Dividend

PARAGOULD, Ark. (AP) — Customers of the municipally owned Paragould Light and Power Co. can expect a pleasant surprise when they get their December electric bills.

The bills will be marked "paid" giving customers a month of service free of charge. The company explained that it considers the paid bills a dividend and that they will stimulate the economy.

State Splits in Southland Conference

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

In just one week every member of the Southland Conference took at least one licking in the opening of the basketball season.

But the competition was tough and the teams gave indications of a slam-bang battle for the title when the conference race starts a month hence.

Arlington State played the most games and although winning one out of three showed plenty of scoring power. The Rebels lost to such worthies as Baylor and Texas A&M of the Southwest Conference, taking a 103-85 licking from the former and losing 97-80 to the latter.

Arlington State slammed Texas Wesleyan 110-93 in its other game.

Abilene Christian also met some tough opposition but broke even, beating Howard Payne 57-55 but losing to Oklahoma State 54-42.

Arkansas State downed Murray State 77-73 and gave the Citadel a battle while losing 94-75. Lamar Tech, the defending champion, split even in two games, beating Southern Mississippi 91-85 but losing to Spring Hill College 83-80.

Trinity went winless. The Tigers were trimmed 95-82 by Texas A&I and 105-84 by North Texas State.

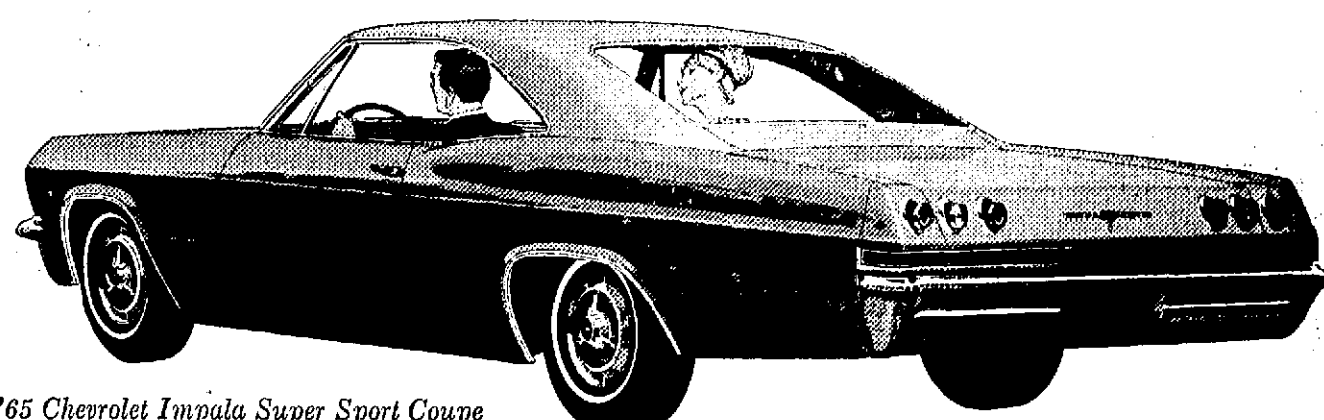

The schedule is heavy this week as Arlington State meets another Southwest Conference foe at Fort Worth Monday night and Arkansas State continues its southern tour against East Carolina at Greenville, N.C., Monday and East Tennessee State at Johnson City, Tenn., Tuesday.

Then the Indians tackle North Texas State at Denton Saturday night.

Abilene Christian plays Midwestern, West Texas State and Southwest Texas State. Lamar Tech engages Northwestern Louisiana, Texas Lutheran and Southeastern Louisiana.

Testimony of Child Voided by Court

LITTLE ROCK (AP) - The Arkansas Supreme Court today reversed the conviction and death sentence of Frank Harris of Jonesboro because a 6-year-old child was permitted to testify against him.

Harris was sentenced to die in the slaying of Mrs. Leonard Dever and four of her children near Trumann Dec. 20, 1963.

A key witness against him was Mary Dever, daughter of the dead woman.

"It appears that at the time of Mary Dever's preliminary examination it might have been thought that she was a competent witness," Justice Francis Holt wrote in the unanimous opinion.

"However, her subsequent testimony with its major inconsistencies and irreconcilable conflicts on material issues x x x convinces us her testimony was subject to exclusion."

Harris was convicted earlier and sentenced to life in prison in the death of Leonard Dever.

Six members of the Dever family died, either by shooting or in a fire which destroyed their home.

Mary and a brother, survived and both testified against Harris. The brother, Ronald, 9, may not have been a competent witness the Supreme Court opinion said.

Holt's opinion went into a lengthy discussion of Arkansas law on qualifying a child witness and he said that courts are given wide discretion in making the determination of competency.

"Although we have recognized no age limitations in criminal cases, we have consistently held that in order for a child witness to be competent, the child must meet certain qualifications," Holt wrote.

Holt then reviewed some of the child's conflicting testimony and concluded:

"Thus there were not merely inconsistencies but irreconcilable conflicts in her testimony bearing on the essential elements of the alleged crime. We cannot approve such contradictory versions on these vital issues."

Charles E. Wilson in the Eisenhower administration.

The only member of McNamara's top group to resign recently was Thomas D. Morris assistant secretary of defense for installations and logistics.

He will be succeeded by Paul Ignatius who is being promoted from undersecretary of the Army.

A change in the military high command will come in early February when Gen. Curtis E. LeMay retires as Air Force chief of staff.

Gen. John P. McConnell who has been the Air Force's second in command since midsummer is likely to succeed LeMay.

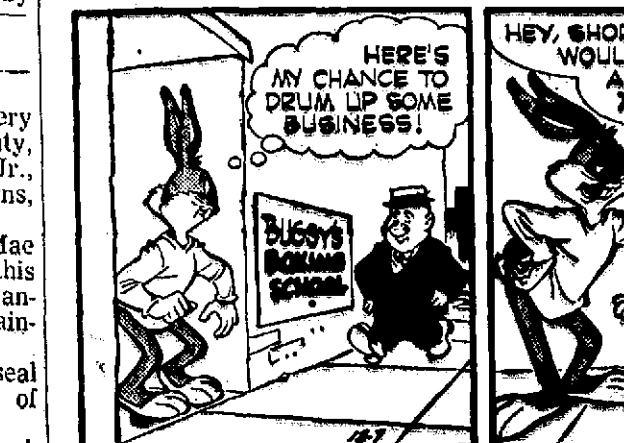

Adm. David L. McDonald will finish a two-year term as chief of naval operations in June. He probably will be given a second term.

Otherwise Gen. Earle G. Wheeler is only a few months into his term as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. The same goes for Gen. Harold K. Johnson Army chief of staff. Gen. Wallace M. Greene Marine Corps commandant still has three more years to go in a four-year term.

Change of Venue in Wirges Case

MORRILTON, Ark. (AP) - Circuit Judge Wiley W. Bean of Clarksville today granted changes of venue in two Conway County Grand Jury indictments of former newspaper publisher Gene Wirges.

The orders transferred the cases from Conway County to Danville in Yell County.

Wirges, who has battled for several years with Conway County political leaders, has been indicted on charges of slander and of being a part of a conspiracy to have Sheriff Marlin Hawkins arrested on false charges.

The orders state that Wirges' attorney, Thorp Thomas, in a letter dated Dec. 2, called for a change of venue for Wirges' case because "the inhabitants of Conway County are so prejudiced against him (Wirges) that he cannot obtain a fair and impartial trial."

The court, being well and sufficiently advised of the facts and conditions existing in Conway County, is of the opinion that a change of venue should be granted," the order stated.

This apparently means the cases will come up in Yell County Circuit Court - probably in April. Yell County, like Conway County, is in the 5th Judicial District.

Conway Circuit Clerk Millard Richardson said that the orders transfer only Wirges' involvement in the cases and not that of the others indicted with him on conspiracy charges.

The conspiracy indictment was revealed Nov. 24. Indicted with Wirges were Chester Boyer of Blackwell and Justices of the Peace Leon Brents of Cleveland and Walter Savage of Plumerville. All are free on bond.

The conspiracy indictments were returned Oct. 26, the same day that the jury released an indictment of Everett A. Ham Jr., a top aide of Winthrop Rockefeller, for perjury.

The Ham indictment grew out of a jury investigation of charges Wirges made at an Oct. 1 news conference about alleged irregularities in the conduct of the sheriff's office. The jury indicted Wirges on slander charges and cleared Hawkins of any misconduct in office.

Hawkins contacted for comment, said Wirges would have to post personal recognizance bonds in each case. Hawkins said the bond would probably be about $1,000 on each case.

Hawkins said he felt the granting of a change of venue "is an effort by the court to prevent criticism of the court in Conway County, and to show clearly that a fair and impartial trial will be held."

Infiltration Big Problem in Viet Nam

EDITOR'S NOTE — A white House statement on Tuesday referred to increased North Vietnamese support of Communist fighters in South Viet Nam, but gave no figures on the extent of Communist infiltration. In this exclusive interview, the new South Vietnamese ambassador to Washington lists infiltration figures and gives his views on the military and political situation in his war-plagued homeland.

By SPENCER DAVIS

WASHINGTON (AP) — North Viet Nam sent 30,000 to 40,000 infiltrators into South Viet Nam during the past three years and the flow continues at a stepped-up pace, Ambassador Tran Thien Khiem said today.

The newly arrived South Vietnamese envoy said in an exclusive interview that the Ho Chi Minh Trail, passing from North Viet Nam through Laos, serves as the main road of infiltration.

Khiem, bespectacled 39-year-old soldier trained by the French and Americans, is a lieutenant general who has served as commander-in-chief of the South Vietnamese armed forces and as his country's minister of defense.

He was one of the triumvirate along with Gen. Nguyen Khanh and Gen. Duong Van Minh which ruled South Viet Nam last summer before the formation of the present civilian government.

How to stop the infiltration has been a perpetual worry of the Vietnamese general staff, Khiem said in the interview.

He added: "We have been thinking about this for a long time and we are still thinking. If we are not able to stop the infiltration completely, at least it must be slowed down."

"We have Special Forces on the borders with Laos but there are not enough troops for this. Our biggest difficulty is the mountainous terrain which is hard to control."

Asked if stopping the infiltration would be decisive in turning the tide of battle in South Viet Nam, Khiem replied: "We do think that if we can succeed in stopping the infiltration it will have a very large impact."

The problem of infiltration was touched upon in a White House statement Tuesday which followed a White House meeting between President Johnson and U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor. It said there was "accumulating evidence of continuing and increased North Vietnamese support of the Viet Cong and of North Vietnamese forces in, and passing through, the territory of Laos in violation of the Geneva accords of 1962."

The State Department said Wednesday that the evidence of North Vietnamese support and infiltration into South Viet Nam is "extensive and complex" but no figures were given.

Khiem said that 60 per cent of the infiltrators have been military cadres and 40 per cent are civilians who are trained at organizing Communist cells at the village and provincial levels.

"According to captured documents and word from prisoners of war, the infiltration increased over a three year period of 1961-1963," Khiem said. "According to the figures we got we understand North Viet Nam sent between 30,000 and 40,000 people."

Khiem said the Ho Chi Minh Trail begins at Vinh, a seaport in North Viet Nam, crosses into Laos at Mui Gia Pass and runs into southeastern Laos to important supply and concentration points at Tchepone, Muong and Nung and Attapu.

"Recently Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, rightist deputy prime minister of Laos and minister of defense, said North Viet Nam has some five divisions — 20,000 men — in the territory of Laos and two-thirds of these forces are being used to protect the Ho Chi Minh Trail."

"On the supply roads, according to the information we have, North Viet Nam is using Soviet-built Molotov trucks."

"This convoy of trucks is supported by armored cars or tanks," Khiem said.

He said this information had been given to him personally by royal Laotian army officers from Savannakhet, one of the southern military bases of the Lao government.

Khiem said that in the military field in South Viet Nam, "We are quite sure that the Communists are not able to win the war."

But he said the political situation still is confused because full agreement has not been reached among all political leaders on a unified point of view as to the best way of fighting the Communist Viet Cong.

"It is sure that the Communists will take advantage of this confusion to make the situation more difficult," he said.

Khiem said the Vietnamese army would never back any nationalist political figures who do not take a very clear stand against the Communists. The army would not back leaders "Are you going to bring Mr. Richards here tomorrow night?" I asked.

"Probably. I nearly always come here. Even alone. Sometimes I get bored at my uncle's and come here alone. I like it here."

I became aware that someone was approaching our table. I saw a tall, handsome man, wearing a dinner jacket and a beret. He also had a neatly trimmed short beard that was solid black. He looked to be in his forties.

"Hello Jackie," he said as he came up. "Everything all right?"

She looked up. "Hello, Blackie. Everything is wonderful. Blackie, this is Blake Morgan. Blake, this is Blackie Ellis, my only real friend."

We shook hands. He was looking me over the same way he might have examined an order of meat to be sure there were no maggots in it. "Welcome to the club," he said. "Mind if I join you for a minute?"

He pulled out a chair and sat down. Almost immediately the waiter appeared with three drinks.

"Blackie runs the club," she said.

"Or tries to," he said with a smile. He lifted his glass. We all drank. But I noticed that he only took a sip of his. "I haven't seen you around before, Mr. Morgan. Stranger in town?"

"From New York."

"Vacation?"

"Business," I said just as briefly.

"Well, it's a nice town no matter why you come here." He'd finished his examination of me and was now merely being polite. I wondered what he'd concluded.

"I like it," I said. "Especially the food. What's your specialty, Mr. Ellis?"

"Call me Blackie—everyone else does. San Francisco is full of restaurants with all kinds of exotic food, but a good steakhouse is almost nonexistent. So we serve steak. The best. As good as you can find in Chicago or New York."

"I'll remember it," I said. He left as quietly as he had come. "He's a nice guy," she said when he was gone.

"And he's the one that gives you all your information?"

"Blackie knows everything that's going on. He's been in prison himself. But then he reformed and started running this club. But he hears everything that goes on."

I reached Larry Porter's office the next morning shortly after he did. He grinned as I came in.

"I didn't think I'd see you until noon," he said.

"I had a very innocent evening," I told him, "and I think profitable. He's been around there. And he's calling himself Emery Richards. He has a date with her tomorrow night."

"Sounds like a threesome," who favor neutralization "or going along with President Charles de Gaulle," he said.

Khiem is a prominent Buddhist and his words appeared directed against the reported efforts of some Buddhists to replace the present government with a neutralist regime.

Khiem said the reason power was turned over to the civilians is because "we visualize the kind of war we are facing now is not merely a military operation, but a political, social and economic war."

"The army cannot fight this war alone. I think we have to give reason to the people to show them that after we win, they will have a better life."

ABC says that Bing Crosby — who started the whole "White Christmas" thing in 1942 — will sing his famous number in the Dec. 21 episode of his current comedy series. If it comes off as well as "Rudolph," maybe rationing won't be necessary.

GOPs in Far Poorer Spot Than Rivals

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — No matter how well they paint over their differences or find some party unity, Republicans will still be in a far poorer spot than Democrats in building voter appeal.

The Democrats, not the Republicans, are the ones in a position to propose programs and then put them into action because a Democrat is president and Democrats, in overwhelming numbers in House and Senate, run Congress.

Thus, since they will lack the votes to override Democratic programs or put through their own ideas, the Republicans are left pretty much in the position of critics, not doers.

This is an unhappy spot for a party which, while it is still trying to pick up the pieces after the 1964 election disaster, is talking of trying to surge back in the congressional elections two years from now.

And if they remain split into Goldwaterites and anti-Goldwaterites — which is what seems likely — they'll be unable to present any kind of policy that can be called a Republican policy and make it convincing.

A split seems inescapable. If the Republicans who have had enough of Sen. Barry Goldwater's brand of republicanism manage to throw out his hand-picked chairman of the Republican National Committee, Dean Burch, this will leave the party divided.

But it will be just as divided if Burch and Goldwater's other followers control the committee since the Goldwaterites don't operate on the same wavelength with a lot of other Republicans. And at this moment it seems all the Republicans in Congress won't be in harmony, either. There the two leaders — Sen. Everett M. Dirksen in the Senate and Rep. Charles A. Halleck in the House — are real conservatives.

But a number of congressional Republicans, looking for some kind of new and appealing image for the party, may not be shepherded very easily if they feel the leadership is out of tune with them.

For most of the past 32 years, Democrats in Congress have been in a far more advantageous position than the Republicans are now or have been.

Since President Roosevelt's election in 1932, Republicans have had a majority in both houses of Congress — and therefore control — only twice: in 1947-48 and 1953-54, or a total of four years out of 32.

In all the other years since 1932, as a minority party, they lacked control. This means that even in President Eisenhower's last six years in office Democratic majorities ran Congress.

Those six years provide a good example of what congressional control can mean even when the other party has the White House.

From 1955 to 1961 Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson was Democratic majority leader in the Senate and his fellow Texan, the late Sam Rayburn, was speaker of the House.

Both were master politicians. But that wasn't all they had going for them. With their majorities in both Houses they could approve or stifle the programs Eisenhower sent to the Capitol, or alter them.

That they worked hard for a number of those programs is a fact. But it was also a happy political advantage. Eisenhower had to share credit with the Democrats for his programs that went through.

It was a position of power enabling Democrats to claim recognition for much that was accomplished, and they did. It gave them an excellent talking point in the 1960 elections.

It seems fair to say that the Republicans, since they are strictly a minority party in Congress, will be in a pathetic political position unless they can achieve some unity quickly before Congress opens in January.

If they don't, they won't even look like a minority. They'll look like splinters of themselves.

Christmas Stamps Are Criticized

By RICHARD P. POWERS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Melvin R. Laird today criticized the 1964 Yuletide postal stamp and urged issuance of Christmas stamps with a religious theme such as a Nativity scene — "not the commercialized symbol of a Christmas tree or Santa Claus."

In a letter to Postmaster General John A. Gronouski the Wisconsin Republican said many controversial issues have arisen in recent years over the principle of separation of church and state.

"There is one issue however over which there should be no controversy because it in no way concerns the separation of church and state," Laird wrote. "That issue is the annual issuance of Christmas stamps by the Post Office Department."

"Again this year the Post Office has issued a highly commercialized stamp which purports to convey the 'spirit' of Christmas but which in no way symbolizes the true meaning of Christmas."

He has urged for years Laird said and in the past has introduced legislation calling on the Post Office Department to use the Nativity scene on its annual Christmas stamp.

The Post Office Department's special stamp committee Laird said turned down the Nativity scene for a Christmas stamp on the basis that it would commemorate a religious holiday.

"This argument has no relevance to this issue," he wrote. "Christmas is celebrated each year to honor the birthday of Jesus Christ. Even those who do not acknowledge Him as the Son of God recognize that He was a great figure in history."

"A Christmas stamp commemorating His birthday should in some way convey that fact and not the commercialized symbol of a Christmas tree or Santa Claus."

Christ is the spiritual leader of millions of Americans and of millions the world over Laird said.

White Oak to Be State Park

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Publicity and Parks Commission agreed Saturday to spend $1,500 to $2,000 on an Arkansas float for the Cotton Bowl Parade New Year's Day at Dallas.

Arkansas plays Nebraska in the post-season football game.

The commission also accepted a $1-a-year lease from the state Game and Fish Commission for 510 acres at the White Oak Lake in Ouachita and Nevada Counties to be developed as a state recreational area.
